PROGRAM NOTES

By JOSHUA S. RITTER

Goodspeed Education & Library Director

In the early years of The Great Depression, when Americans desperately needed a laugh, beloved composer Irving Berlin and celebrated playwright Moss Hart collaborated on a hilarious Broadway topical revue entitled As Thousands Cheer. Every scene, song, and gag was inspired by a different section of the newspaper. As Thousands Cheer opened at the Music Box Theatre on September 30, 1933 to rave reviews. This newspaper-style format was lauded as innovative, and the show ran for more than 400 performances. In one scene, Berlin and Hart placed the cast in an Easter parade as the orchestra played the now-familiar Berlin ballad of the same name. The scene planted an idea in Berlin's mind: why not develop a revue based on American holidays?

Years later, in May of 1940, Berlin approached Paramount Producer-Director Mark Sandrich with the concept. Sandrich had worked with Berlin on three RKO films — Top Hat (1935), Follow the Fleet (1936), and Carefree (1938) — so he was adept at staging Berlin numbers for the camera. Sandrich was intrigued by the idea, and they began working on an outline for a film.

They agreed that it would be an appropriate vehicle for leading Hollywood crooner Bing Crosby. Crosby was contracted to Paramount at the time, so it would be a somewhat cost-effective measure to hire him to play a leading role. However, Sandrich had the extravagant idea of hiring the foremost Hollywood dance man, Fred Astaire, to play Crosby's romantic rival and ex-vaudeville partner. Having directed five Astaire-Rogers films at RKO, Sandrich was comfortable working with Astaire, and he felt he could lure him onboard. Irving Berlin's Holiday Inn would mark the first pairing of Crosby and Astaire. Yet Astaire would come at a high financial price. As a concession to satisfy the studio, they agreed to cast lackluster leading women, virtually unknown: Marjorie Reynolds and Virginia Dale.

Despite the light script and unbalanced casting, Berlin composed more than a dozen songs for the film including the timeless classic "White Christmas." The score also featured such gems as "Happy Holiday," "Be Careful, It's My Heart," "You're Easy to Dance With," and "I Can't Tell a Lie." Holiday Inn was sure to be a hit, particularly paired with Mark Sandrich's brilliant direction and the boundless talent of the two leading men.

In the winter of 2013, Universal Stage Productions, the live theatre division of the renowned motion picture studio, invited Goodspeed to be the developmental home of the stage adaptation of this wonderfully tuneful film, and we eagerly agreed. Goodspeed has long offered theatre gypsies a bit of respite from their hectic lives trodding the boards in New York City and other bustling cities. Our quaint surroundings share some resemblance to the Connecticut sanctuary sought by Jim Hardy (Bing Crosby) in Holiday Inn.

As Director and Book Writer Gordon Greenberg explains, "Before we had even written a word of the adaptation, we identified Goodspeed as the perfect theatre to launch Holiday Inn. For starters, there's East Haddam itself; so beautiful it looks like a Hollywood back lot. It's the closest we could possibly come to the setting of the show — the fictional town of Midville, Connecticut. We could have done a site-specific production at the Gelston House, but the main reason we're at Goodspeed is the theatre itself; not just the celebrated Opera House, but the human beings that fill it. The staff at Goodspeed knows musicals better than any other in the world. They live and breathe musicals and have a unique expertise in producing both classics and originals. Holiday Inn is simultaneously both. And while the jewel box stage is not the same size or scale of a Broadway house, the talent level certainly is. On top of that, Goodspeed audiences are uniquely smart, seasoned, and supportive. There is nowhere better equipped or more beautiful to develop and stage a brand new musical, especially one with a vintage pedigree."

PROGRAM NOTES

We couldn't agree more! And we are happy to welcome you to the first-ever performances of the stage adaptation of Irving Berlin's Holiday Inn! We're sure glad you're here.

ABOUT GOODSPEED MUSICALS

WHERE WE'VE BEEN

Goodspeed Musicals' beginnings date back to 1963 when it opened its doors as a professional musical theatre in an historic building on the banks of the Connecticut River in East Haddam. Under the direction of Michael Price since 1968, Goodspeed transformed from a struggling entity into a musical theatre with a mission. At first, Goodspeed's commitment was to discover rarely-produced musicals from the repertoire, reworking them and bringing them to life. It was also intent on adding to the repertoire by discovering and nurturing promising new musicals presented at its Norma Terris Theatre in neighboring Chester. While these commitments remain in place today, Goodspeed's main stage productions are more often contemporary works created during the lifetime of its audience.

To date, Goodspeed has exported 19 productions to Broadway—most famously Annie, Man of La Mancha, and Shenandoah—and produced 71 world premieres. Goodspeed stands as the first regional theatre in America to earn two special Tony Awards, one in 1980 for outstanding contributions to the American musical and a second in 1995 for distinguished achievement for a regional theatre.

WHO WE ARE TODAY

Goodspeed mounts six new and newly-worked musicals a year—three on its second stage and three on its main stage—for a total of more than 400 performances during the April to December season. It stands at the forefront of producing and preserving the American musical, simultaneously reinventing the classics and inventing new ones. It attracts well-known icons of the theatre world and fosters emerging talent among composers, lyricists, and librettists. Each year, thousands of actors, directors, choreographers, and technicians aspire to come to Goodspeed to practice their craft. Among millions who know and love this art form—and those who appreciate its history and enduring appeal—Goodspeed is widely recognized as the “home of the American musical.”

In addition, Goodspeed contributes to the preservation of the art form through its Scherer Library of Musical Theatre, the second most extensive musical theatre research library in the United States. Throughout the year, and intensively during the months of winter, Goodspeed addresses issues unique to the field by offering innovative and highly sought-after programs through its Max Showalter Center for Education in Musical Theatre. The Festival of New Musicals features students from The Hart School and The Boston Conservatory performing staged readings of three brand new musicals, several industry-related seminars, a symposium, and two cabarets. The Showalter Center also encompasses Goodspeed's growing Musical Theatre Institute and programs for underserved children and teens. Goodspeed's newest program, the Johnny Mercer Writers Colony at Goodspeed Musicals, is a four week residency for musical theatre writers and is the only program in the country dedicated solely to the creation of new musicals.

THE FUTURE WE ENVISION

We envision Goodspeed as a thriving artist colony where the creative process continues to rule and commitment to discovery shows up in new approaches to classic works, new ways to share Goodspeed's knowledge with the industry, and new methods to mine genius and enrich the field with the next generation of musical theatre artists.

HISTORY OF GOODSPEED OPERA HOUSE

The Goodspeed Opera House has endured as a majestic presence on the Connecticut River since it was built in 1876 by William H. Goodspeed, a shipping and banking magnate and avid theatre lover. Since that time the Opera House has lived two lives: the first as a bustling center of commerce, housing a theatre, professional offices, steamboat passenger terminal, and a general store; and the second, after a period of neglect and deterioration, as a magnificent professional musical theatre fully restored in 1963 to its original splendor.

Goodspeed's history goes back to its opening night on October 24, 1877, when a repertory group presented the comedy Charles II and the farces Box and Cox and Turn Him Out. Featured performers of the day were brought to East Haddam by steamboat, many directly from theatres in New York.

After William Goodspeed's death, the theatre was eventually sold and used as a storage depot for the State Highway Department. The building was marked for demolition in 1958, but local preservationists became interested, and in 1959 The Goodspeed Opera House Foundation was organized to restore and reactivate the theatre. With the cooperation of the State of Connecticut and the support of donor-members, the Goodspeed Opera House was restored and rededicated on June 18, 1963 with the opening of the musical Oh Lady! Lady!!

OUR MISSION

The mission of Goodspeed Musicals is to be the leader in preserving and producing musical theatre of the highest quality by:

- Rethinking, restoring, and producing works that are valued and significant in the history of musical theatre;
- Developing new musical theatre works;
- Nurturing the talents of new composers, lyricists, and librettists;
- Encouraging and developing the talents of artists, technicians, and administrators;
- Inspiring future audiences through education programs and outreach efforts;
- Preserving and expanding the archival collections of its Scherer Library of Musical Theatre and making them available for professional use;
- Maintaining the Goodspeed Opera House, a national historic landmark.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE—LEAVING A LEGACY

Since its inception, Goodspeed Musicals has particularly benefitted from the unique advantages of planned gifts and bequests. Because such gifts provide financial support over time, they have been essential to Goodspeed Musicals' ability to consistently move from strength to strength, plan for the future with confidence, and ensure millions more will enjoy award-winning productions for generations to come.

WILLIAM H. GOODSPEED LEGACY SOCIETY

Goodspeed Musicals thanks the members of the William H. Goodspeed Society who have included a future bequest to Goodspeed Musicals in their wills or estate plans.

IN APPRECIATION

Goodspeed Musicals would like to thank the following for their contributions to our productions: all who volunteer their time and talents to Goodspeed, the Goodspeed Opera House usher and gift shop staffs, the Goodspeed Guild, and Mae Wantanabe of ZCMI Flower Shop.

Fresh fish straight from the neighborhood.

Eat fresh. Eat clean. At Atlantic Seafood we pride ourselves in bringing you fresh fish with no color added, no pesticides, no gmo's. When we say 'fresh' & "clean" it's more than just a promise, its a commitment.

Do you write lyrics?

Would you like to have an award-winning composer bring your words to life in Broadway or pop-style songs with professional-sounding demo recordings and sheet music?

Stephen has composed for several musicals including an off-Broadway production that was named a New York Times Critic's Pick. A graduate of the Yale School of Music in classical composition, his award-winning classical music has been performed around the world and recorded by the Cincinnati Pops Orchestra and other groups.

There's no place like home. And now my home is at The Saybrook at Haddam.

Life at The Saybrook at Haddam reminds Shirley of the home and garden she enjoyed in Kansas. Now, she still has an active lifestyle, but no longer worries about maintaining a house, preparing meals, or being alone. With her daughter nearby in Essex, Shirley can relax, knowing there truly is no place like home.

For independent residents, The Saybrook at Haddam offers gracious retirement living at an unmatched value.

For residents who need more assistance with daily living, the professional, experienced staff is ready to meet their needs.

Also featuring Safe Harbor, a special care program for residents with Alzheimer's or dementia.
