ABOUT THE AUTHORS

ALAN JAY LERNER (Book and Lyrics) was born in New York in 1918. In 1942 Lerner wrote his first musical with Frederick Loewe called Life of the Party; in 1943, they wrote their first Broadway musical, What's Up? The team went on to write The Day Before Spring in 1945 followed by their first hit, Brigadoon, in 1947. Lerner wrote the libretto for An American in Paris, the first musical film to win an Oscar. Lerner and Loewe teamed up again in the 1950s to write Paint Your Wagon, the mega-hit My Fair Lady, the film Gigi (winner of nine Oscars, including Best Picture), and Camelot in 1960. After the retirement of Frederick Loewe, Lerner went on to write On a Clear Day You Can See Forever and Carmelina with Burton Lane, Coco with Andre Previn, 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue with Leonard Bernstein, and Dance a Little Closer with Charles Strouse. Lerner and Loewe reunited in 1973 to provide Broadway with a stage version of Gigi. Alan Jay Lerner died in 1986 at the age of 67.

FREDERICK LOEWE (Music) was born in Vienna in 1901. A child piano prodigy at age 4, he made his concert debut with the Berlin Symphony Orchestra at age 13. Coming to America in 1930, Loewe wandered about in such odd jobs as cowpunching in Montana, gold prospecting in Colorado and saloon hall piano playing everywhere. In 1942, on the brink of establishing himself as a composer of popular songs, Loewe approached Alan Jay Lerner at a club in New York and said he would like to collaborate with him on a musical show. The two went on to enjoy a notable partnership that lasted 18 years, resulting in the musicals Brigadoon, Paint Your Wagon, My Fair Lady, and Camelot. In 1961 Loewe retired to the French Riviera until 10 years later, when Lerner persuaded him to write the score for a musical film based on The Little Prince, followed by creating new music for Lerner’s expanded book and lyrics for the 1973 Broadway version of Gigi. Frederick Loewe died in 1988 at the age of 88.

Welcome to Camelot!
At Goodspeed, we are proud of our ability to transport our audience into a unique and magical world. With the help of our creative teams and staff, Goodspeed Musicals endeavors to bring you a completely unique show, even when it would be easier to simply mimic what has been done in the past. King Arthur was guided by his principles as well when he envisioned a utopia in which everything happens according to plan.

Alas, but in real life things don’t always happen as expected. Unfortunately, there were many obstacles and several tragic circumstances in bringing Camelot to Broadway. Adrian Greenburg, the famous motion picture costume designer, died of a heart attack after finishing less than half of his work on the production. Moreover, Alan Jay Lerner (book and lyrics) became ill two months before rehearsal was scheduled to start. Then, when the show opened in Toronto, it lasted more than four hours due to extraneous material. After that opening, Lerner spent ten days in the hospital. Upon Lerner’s return to work, Moss Hart (director) promptly suffered a heart attack and was unable to see the show again until it had been running on Broadway for over four months. According to Lerner, “Camelot on Broadway became known as a ‘medical’ more than a ‘musical’.”

Another terrible event loomed in Camelot’s future and for a number of reasons; it gradually became synonymous with one of the most tragic and shocking stories in American history. On November 22, 1963, President Kennedy’s assassination traumatized the nation and cut short the presence of one of our greatest leaders. In recent times, the legacy of Camelot and its connection to the Kennedy administration continues to resonate with the American people.

Despite past and future malady, after being rewritten and restaged, Camelot opened on Broadway on December 3, 1960. At that point, Alan J. Lerner and Fredrick Loewe (music) were already enjoying great success with their musical My Fair Lady. In fact, some would argue that My Fair Lady raised the bar too much and negatively impacted Camelot’s sales once it opened. Many theatergoers and critics actually projected that Camelot would close before My Fair Lady. This was almost the case because My Fair Lady closed on September 29, 1962, and Camelot ended its run on January 3, 1963.

Despite the mixed reviews and the difficult journey to New York City, the box office was overwhelmed with the largest advance ticket sales in Broadway history. Lerner explains: “The highest expectations of the season, however, were reserved for Camelot, the first show by Fritz and me since My Fair Lady, with several former associates, namely director Moss Hart, choreographer Hanya Holm, and starring Julie Andrews. Her co-star was Richard Burton. Fritz and I had been away from the theatre for four years, during which time we had written the screenplay, music and lyrics for the film Gigi. Because Gigi was not only successful, but won more Oscars than any film in history up to that time, and because of My Fair Lady, the advance sale for Camelot was monumental.”

After opening on Broadway however, ticket sales were not impressive and CBS was projecting that the show would close in May of that year. However, the production had its big break when Ed Sullivan invited Lerner and Loewe to be featured for one hour on his television program. The special occasion was the fifth anniversary of My Fair Lady and Sullivan permitted Lerner and Loewe to choose the format of the program. Lerner and Loewe used that opportunity to feature all the best songs and scenes from Camelot, including much of Moss’s vastly improved changes to the show.

Lerner recounts: “The following morning I was awakened by a phone call from an excited manager at the Majestic Theatre. “You better come down here,” he said, “and look at this.” “Look at what?” I asked. He answered, “Just come and see what’s going on at this box office.” I got to the theatre as quickly as I could. For the first time there was a line halfway down the block. That night the audience came to the theatre and saw the vastly improved musical that Moss had rehearsed the week before. And at eleven-fifteen the curtain came down! The reaction and the applause were overwhelming. The people came up the aisles raving. Camelot was finally a hit.”

The legend of Camelot endures in the collective mind of our nation and Camelot the musical deals with issues that remain extremely relevant. Together and as individuals, we continue to strive for our own fleeting Camelot. It is our hope that we can provide a glimpse of that magical place on our stage for you to enjoy.

The Goodspeed Opera House has endured as a majestic presence on the Connecticut River since it was built in 1876 by William H. Goodspeed, a shipping and banking magnate and avid theatre lover. Since that time the Opera House has lived two lives: the first as a bustling center of commerce, housing a theatre, professional offices, steamboat passenger terminal and a general store; and the second, after a period of neglect and deterioration, as a magnificent professional musical theatre fully restored in 1963 to its original splendor.

Goodspeed’s history goes back to its opening night on October 24, 1877, when a repertory group presented the comedy Charles II and the farces Box and Cox and Turn Him Out. Featured performers of the day were brought to East Haddam by steamboat, many directly from theatre in New York.

After William Goodspeed’s death, the theatre was eventually sold and used as a storage depot for the State Highway Department. The building was marked for demolition in 1958, but local preservationists became interested and in 1959 The Goodspeed Opera House Foundation was organized to restore and reactivate the theatre. With the cooperation of the State of Connecticut and the support of donor-members, the Goodspeed Opera House was restored and rededicated on June 18, 1963, with the opening of the musical Oh Lady! Lady!!

Goodspeed Musicals was first formed as The Goodspeed Opera House Foundation in 1959 to restore the 19th century Goodspeed Opera House as a professional theatre. Under the direction of Michael P. Price since 1968, Goodspeed has achieved acclaim as the home of musical theatre. Mixing classics by the Gershwins, Cole Porter and Jerome Kern with the very best of this country’s newest musicals, such as Annie, Man of La Mancha and Shenandoah, Goodspeed pioneered the practice of rethinking, restoring and revitalizing America’s musical theatre heritage.

Goodspeed Opera House

Dedicated to the preservation and advancement of musical theatre, Goodspeed produces three musicals April through December on its mainstage in East Haddam. Nineteen Goodspeed productions have gone on to Broadway, receiving more than a dozen Tony Awards. Goodspeed itself has been awarded two Special Tony Awards, one in 1980 for outstanding contributions to the American musical and a second in 1995 for distinguished achievement for a regional theatre.

Located in rural East Haddam on the Connecticut River, the historic Victorian-style Opera House takes musicals from the past and brings them to life for today’s audiences.

New Musicals at The Norma Terris Theatre

Goodspeed is at the forefront of shaping the future of musical theatre. At The Norma Terris Theatre, located in nearby Chester, Goodspeed develops new musicals and nurtures emerging artists. Goodspeed has launched over 50 musicals into the theatre world at The Norma Terris Theatre, giving composers and authors the opportunity to develop their material through actual production. Audience response is a vital part of this theatre. Regular input is actively sought through “Talkback” discussions with the creative staff, giving audiences the opportunity to play a part in creating a new musical.

The Scherer Library of Musical Theatre
The Scherer Library of Musical Theatre is integral in perpetuating our national musical heritage. The Library preserves scores, sheet music, scripts, original cast recordings, playbills and theatre memorabilia. In addition to making this collection available for study and research, the library provides the Goodspeed creative staff with original source material to assist in the faithful re-creation of musicals.

The Max Showalter Center for Education in the Musical Theater
Goodspeed Musicals recently established The Max Showalter Center for Education in the Musical Theater. The Center encourages and nurtures musical theatre artists and students by providing a unique and comprehensive array of training and educational programs to serve both the national and local academic communities. As a part of that mission, the Center conducts the annual Goodspeed Musical Theatre Institute in collaboration with New York University’s Tisch School of the Arts and The Hartt School at the University of Hartford. In addition, it offers education pages on Goodspeed’s website, allowing visitors to further participate in and appreciate the rich and vibrant world of musical theatre. THE MAX SHOWALTER CENTER FOR EDUCATION IN THE MUSICAL THEATER

THE SCHERER LIBRARY OF MUSICAL THEATER AT GOODSPEED

The Scherer Library of Musical Theatre at Goodspeed perpetuates our national musical heritage through the careful preservation of vital performance materials: scores, sheet music, scripts, original cast recordings, playbills, and theatre memorabilia. Its efforts are enhanced by the support of the Library Advisory Board. The Library owes its existence to the generosity of those who have contributed their personal collections and it gratefully accepts materials related to musical theatre.
