ACTORS’ EQUITY ASSOCIATION, founded in 1913, represents more than 49,000 actors and stage managers in the U.S. Equity negotiates wages and working conditions, providing a wide range of benefits, including health and pension plans. Equity seeks to foster the art of live theater as an essential component of our society.
It all began, they say, with a gravestone. In 1841, Charles Dickens, already a famous and celebrated writer, was giving a lecture in Edinburgh, Scotland. While sightseeing, he wandered into a graveyard, where he spotted a grave that read “Ebenezer Lennox Scroggie - Meal Man.” The title referred to Scroggie’s career as a corn merchant, but Dickens misread it as “Mean Man” and was left wondering what a man could do in life to earn that title written upon his gravestone for eternity. Two years later, Dickens was planning to write a pamphlet appealing to the British public to pay more attention to the horrific working conditions of the poor, but decided that he would have more impact with a story instead. He remembered Mr. Scroggie and turned him into Ebenezer Scrooge, a mean man, indeed. Scrooge became the incarnation of the selfish rich, hoarding his own money and indifferent to the suffering of the good people around him.

To say that the story was a hit would be an understatement. Written in less than two months in 1843 and published on December 19th of that year, it had sold out its entire run by New Year’s. Thirteen editions had to be printed in 1844 alone, and the story, which Victorians had dubbed “a new gospel,” is credited for popularizing both the phrases “Bah! Humbug!” and, more remarkably, “Merry Christmas,” which wasn’t widely used before the story’s publication. The story’s fame lasted well beyond Dickens. Reading the story on Christmas Eve became a key tradition in many families, and it is said that it is the most popular Christmas story of all time (and possibly also the most famous ghost story, too.) To this day, A Christmas Carol has the honor of being the most adapted story ever, with 24 film adaptations (the earliest from 1901), dozens of television versions, and several theatrical incarnations.

Although Charles Dickens had first conceived of the story as a way to wake the people of his time up to a specific issue, his story captured themes that were far more universal. Scrooge is not an evil man, but he is a man who has allowed his life to get wildly off course, valuing money over every other human connection and shutting himself off from the world around him. The visits from the ghosts are a supernatural wake-up call, a reminder to Scrooge that it’s never too late to reconcile with the pain in his past and set himself on a path of caring and connection. Although most of us could do without ghostly visitors, we could all use a reminder to be loving, generous, and kind to those around us.

The writers of A Connecticut Christmas Carol, L J Fecho and Michael O’Flaherty, recognized the universality of Dickens’ story. In 2009, they were working together at Genesius Theatre in Reading, Pennsylvania, which Michael had co-founded in 1971. The two wanted to offer their audiences a new take on the classic tale. Inspired by the German heritage of many of the people in their area, they created The Belsnickel Scrooge, which drew on characters from Germanic folklore. The show was a hit and has been performed several times since its premiere.

They decided to work the same magic for Goodspeed, where Michael O’Flaherty has been the longtime Resident Musical Director. They set their new version on the stage of the Goodspeed Opera House in 1925, where the actor William Gillette has been asked to play the role of Scrooge by Mr. Goodspeed himself. And, although this Scrooge will face the same ghosts—Christmas Past, Present, and Future—that we know and love, they take a new form in this version. For it stands to reason that Connecticut, with its illustrious inhabitants, would have some illustrious ghosts. You’ll meet a few loved (and not-so-loved) Connecticut figures in this version of A Christmas Carol, along with the familiar favorites from the original story.

This is the third year that A Connecticut Christmas Carol has been presented at Goodspeed, and each year it has grown more beloved. And it’s not stopping here—director Hunter Foster, who is also the Artistic Director of the Redhouse Performing Arts Center in Syracuse, NY will be directing a new Syracuse version of the show there later this year. The tale that sparked from a simple misreading of a gravestone (a grave misunderstanding?) almost two centuries ago has found a new telling that reminds us all, no matter where we are, to celebrate the true meaning of Christmas with kindness and generosity—and a special community flare.

ABOUT GOODSPEED MUSICALS

Where We’ve Been
Goodspeed’s beginnings date back to 1963 when we opened our doors as a professional musical theatre in an historic building on the banks of the Connecticut River in East Haddam. Under the direction of Michael Price from 1968 to 2014, Goodspeed transformed from a struggling entity into a non-profit arts organization with a mission. At first, Goodspeed’s commitment was to discover rarely produced musicals from the repertoire, reworking them and bringing them to life. We were also intent on adding to the repertoire by discovering and nurturing promising new musicals presented at both The Goodspeed and The Terris Theatre in neighboring Chester.

In our history, we have produced over 275 musicals, including over 70 world premieres, and exported 21 productions to Broadway. Goodspeed stands as the first regional theatre in America to earn two special Tony Awards, one in 1980 for outstanding contributions to the American musical and a second in 1995 for distinguished achievement for a regional theatre.

Who We Are Today
Goodspeed Musicals mounts both new and newly revived musicals each year on our main stage at The Goodspeed in East Haddam and on our second stage, The Terris Theatre, in Chester—a total of more than 400 performances during the April to December season, attracting 130,000 patrons to the Connecticut River Valley. We stand at the forefront of producing and preserving the American musical, simultaneously reinventing the classics and inventing new ones. We attract well-known icons of the theatre world and foster emerging talent among composers, lyricists, and librettists. Each year, thousands of actors, directors, choreographers, and technicians aspire to come to Goodspeed to practice their craft. Among millions who know and love this art form—and those who appreciate its history and enduring appeal—Goodspeed is widely recognized as “The Home of the American Musical.”

Throughout the year, and intensively during the winter months, Goodspeed addresses issues unique to the field by offering innovative and highly-sought after programs through our Max Showalter Center for Education in Musical Theatre, including the celebrated Musical Theatre Institute providing programs for aspiring musical theatre professionals. The Arts Education Collaboration provides art-education programs for underserved Connecticut youth. The Festival of New Musicals features students from The Hartt School and the Boston Conservatory performing staged readings of three brand-new musicals, industry-related seminars, a symposium, and cabaret performances. Each winter, Goodspeed also hosts the Johnny Mercer Foundation Writers Colony that invites musical theatre writing teams to retreat from daily life for a four-week residency and concentrate solely on writing new musicals. In addition, Goodspeed serves as a resource for the preservation of the art form through our Scherer Library of Musical Theatre, the second most extensive musical theatre research library in the United States.

The Future We Envision
The Goodspeed campus will continue to serve as a thriving artist colony where the creative process informs the work on our stages and expanding educational programs. We aspire to serve as a safe haven where a singular commitment to discovery and innovation will enrich the field with the next generation of musical theatre artists.

HISTORY OF THE TERRIS THEATRE

The Terris Theatre was inaugurated in 1984 by Goodspeed Musicals for the development of new musicals. The theatre is named in honor of the actress Norma Terris, star of Jerome Kern’s Show Boat and devoted patron and trustee of the Goodspeed Opera House during her later years.

Miss Terris began her stage career as a young vaudeville performer, which led to her first major role in George M. Cohan’s Little Nellie Kelly. She gained immortal acclaim as the creator of the roles of Magnolia and Kim in the original Florenz Ziegfeld 1927 production of Show Boat. After making two films for Fox, Married in Hollywood and Cameo Kirby, she starred for 10 seasons at the Municipal Opera Company in St. Louis.

Miss Terris first performed for Goodspeed audiences in the 1970 production of Little Mary Sunshine. She presided over the dedication of The Terris Theatre, and in 1987 she established the Norma Terris Fund to expand the talents of individuals and to foster the vitality, excellence, and diversity of musical theatre at The Terris Theatre. A beloved friend of the Goodspeed Opera House, Norma Terris is remembered for enriching the art of musical theatre with her beautiful voice, fine acting, and generous spirit.

The Terris Theatre formerly was a factory built in the early 1900s for Susan Bates, Inc., which became one of the largest manufacturers of knitting needles and needlework accessories. In 1982, after relocating to a larger facility, Susan Bates, Inc., donated its abandoned factory in Chester to the Goodspeed Opera House Foundation. An intimate 200-seat performing space, The Terris Theatre was fully renovated, opening its doors on July 10, 1984 with the new musical Harrigan ‘n’ Hart.

OUR MISSION

The mission of Goodspeed Musicals is to be the leader in preserving and producing musical theatre of the highest quality by:

- Rethinking, restoring, and producing works that are valued and significant in the history of musical theatre;
- Developing new musical theatre works;
- Nurturing the talents of new composers, lyricists, and librettists;
- Encouraging and developing the talents of artists, technicians, and administrators;
- Inspiring future audiences through education programs and outreach efforts;
- Preserving and expanding the archival collections of its Scherer Library of Musical Theatre and making them available for professional use;
- Maintaining the Goodspeed Opera House, a national historic landmark.

Thinking about Tomorrow

Please consider a planned gift to Goodspeed. Here are four easy ways to help:

- Bequest
- Charitable Gift Annuity
- Beneficiary Designation
- Gift of Appreciated Assets

Your gift will have a big impact. Please contact Gloria Gorton at 860.873.8664 x366 or ggorton@goodspeed.org.
NO ONE SHOULD READ THIS AD

It’s boring. No pictures. It’s actually an ad to sell you an ad. An ad that will reach the people seated around you. They won’t read this ad either. (Go ahead, ask them.) No one reads ads, especially people who love the arts. They spend all their money on tickets to plays, opera, ballet, and the symphony, so they don’t have any extra money anyway. Besides, they can buy ads on BookFace or TubeYou, which is where people with money to spare go. Those big companies need the money more than the arts organizations that ads like this support. Why are you still reading? Do you have a business that would benefit from advertising to arts patrons while supporting this organization? If you want to learn more, go to the website below. Now, if you are going to ask the people next to you about this ad, please do it now, not during the performance.

Accessibility Services:
The Terris Theatre strives to make musical theatre accessible to our hearing-impaired patrons by offering the Sennheiser infra-red hearing system at every performance and open captioning at select performances (visit goodspeed.org for a list of dates). These systems were generously underwritten by the Carol L. Sirot Foundation.

Goodspeed Guild:
The Goodspeed Guild is a volunteer organization dedicated to supporting Goodspeed Musicals’ operations and productions. Since 1975 it has provided services to artists, patrons, and staff on a year-round basis, while offering its members the opportunity to become part of the behind-the-scenes activities at Goodspeed. To find out about volunteer opportunities that fit your interests and schedule, visit our website at goodspeed.org or contact Amy Campbell at 203.494.7328.

Sets, costumes, and props are designed especially for The Terris Theatre and are built in Goodspeed Musicals’ shops.

Goodspeed Musicals is a professional theatre operating under an agreement between the League of Resident Theatres and Actors’ Equity Association, the Union of Professional Actors and Stage Managers in the United States.

Goodspeed Musicals is a member of The League of Resident Theatres.

The scenic, costume, lighting and sound designers in LORT Theatres are represented by United Scene Artists, Local USA-829 of the IATSE.
